WHAT IT IS

ABOUT

Since 2012, Nik Loukas (the founder) has been running Inflight Feed, one of the most recognised independent voices in the airline industry, benchmarking airlines and covering the onboard experience.

The Inflight Lab is the live version of that. An intimate, invitation-only workshop where airline professionals get two days to talk openly with peers, no trade show floor and no sales pitches.

Just honest conversations about what's actually happening onboard.

15–20 airline decision-makers. A small group of curated suppliers.

Every agenda is built around what the people in the room want to discuss. We survey attendees as they register to attend, and then build an agenda based on their requirements.
